

President At Services For Slain Guard In Arlington

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Truman pays sorrowful tribute today to the White House policeman who died defending him from assassins' bullets.

The chief executive and Mrs. Truman arranged to attend funeral services (11 a.m., EST) for Pvt. Leslie Coffelt. The 40-year-old guard was fatally wounded Wednesday during the armed attack on the President's home, Blair house, by two Puerto Rican revolutionists.

Last rites for Coffelt—who, as Mr. Truman has put it, died "in my defense and in the defense of law and order"—were scheduled in the chapel for Arlington National cemetery, across the Potomac river from Washington.

To Bury In Arlington

Interment, too, will be in Arlington where many of the nation's heroes are buried. Coffelt was an army veteran of World War II.

One of the assailants who tried to blast a way into Blair house to kill Mr. Truman fell dead in the answering volley of shots from the guns of Coffelt and other guards and Secret Service agents. The second Puerto Rican, wounded in the chest and now recovering, has been charged with murder of Coffelt.

Two other White House policemen were wounded during the bloody affray. Mr. Truman visited them in the hospital yesterday and reported they were getting along fine.

Increasing Guards

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the Senate Appropriations committee said, meanwhile, that if the Secret Service feels more money is needed to increase protection of the President and his family, Congress ought to provide it promptly.

"I am all for giving them every cent they need to provide the best possible protection," McKellar told a reporter. A Secret Service official, who asked not to be named, said the agency had not decided yet whether to seek additional money.

Just before adjourning in September, Congress appropriated $76,700 to step up protection of the President. The money provided for 20 more agents. The Secret Service said those agents have not been added to the White House staff yet, but that recruitment has been going on ever since the funds were furnished.

SHAREHOLDERS ATTEND ANNUAL FIRST NATIONAL DINNER SESSION

Setting a new attendance record with 223 officers, stockholders and guests present, the 24th annual First National bank dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg Friday evening set a new local pattern by broadcasting the principal addresses over Station WGET.

The speakers were President Edmund W. Thomas, who discussed the First National bank and the national banking situation, and the Rev. Wallace E. Fisher, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, who spoke on the subject, "If the Foundations Be Destroyed."

"Long, long centuries ago—even centuries before the birth of Christ—a sensitive soul laid bare this profound question: 'If the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?' And down the corridors of time that probing question has rolled until, in this hour, it weighs heavily on your Christian mind and heart and on mine," the Rev. Mr. Fisher began.

He continued: "If the foundations of a social structure are being destroyed, what can the serious, concerned and dependable people do about it? Really mature minds face up to things as they actually are."

With the mature mind, the question is: "Where will the destruction stop, what will be left finally?"

Foundations Challenged

"Only two decades ago most people considered the question hypothetical, if they considered it at all. Now in the closing months of the first half of the 20th century the question is so pressing that the 'if' has been dropped and the new reading runs like this: While the foundations are being destroyed, what can good and concerned people do about it?"

"Beyond the shadow of a doubt, our life is cast in an age when the formerly accepted social foundations are being challenged, rejected and destroyed. In the face of it all, what can serious and concerned people do?"

"We shall thank God for these desperate days which are revealing our profound need for Him. We shall thank God for the smattering of goodness which our limited faith has produced and we shall thank God for the privilege of going to Him as erring children go to a gracious father and finding in Him pardon, peace and power . . . We can and should thank God that He is approachable, that we can go to Him in our natural weakness and rise in His deathless power. And this

REGINA KIMPLE IS WED TODAY

In a setting of white chrysanthemums and palms, and pews decorated with white satin bows and pompons, Miss Regina Agnes Kimple, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Hoeltzel, Lancaster, and the late Edward Kimple, became the bride of Henry Joseph Debes, son of John Debes, Sr., Lancaster, and the late Anna Debes, at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's of the Immaculate Conception church, York. The nuptial high mass and double ring ceremony were performed by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor George J. Breckel.

Escorted by her uncle, Raymond J. Kane, the bride wore an ivory skinner satin gown with an illusion yoke fashioned with a bertha collar of Chantilly lace, fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The skirt fell into an isle wide train. Her long veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of imported wax orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white pompons. Her jewelry was a string of pearls.

Bride Is Arendtsville Grad

Mrs. Joseph Goldbeck, Baltimore, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Eugene Wagner, McSherrystown, and Mrs. Donald Kohler, York. Edward Debes, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were John Debes, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, and

Mrs. Katherine Kressman Taylor, Gettysburg R. 3, instructor in English at Gettysburg college and author of the famed war-time story, "Address Unknown," will be the speaker November 28 at the annual membership meeting of the Adams County Free Library.

All members of the library are invited to attend the session, it was announced at the regular meeting of the board Friday night at the library. In addition to the talk by Mrs. Taylor, the program will include the election of five directors.

Four of those to be named will fill expiring terms, the fifth will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. D. Kroust, East Berlin, as a director. ## SUPPLIES ARE DELIVERED TO VOTING PLACES

The Adams county election board this morning delivered supplies to the various election districts in the county for the general election to be held next Tuesday.

With little interest apparent locally in the campaign, election officials were estimating the expected turnout of voters at from 9,000 to 10,000 out of approximately 18,000 registered.

Ballots and other supplies will go to all the election districts except Gettysburg's three precincts today. The supplies for the Gettysburg voting places will be delivered early Tuesday morning to the polling officials.

All of the Republican candidates for office have spoken in Adams county during the current campaign, and all of the Democratic candidates with the exception of Senator Myers. The latter was prevented from making a scheduled appearance here due to illness.

Hanson Hall Is Dedicated At Ceremonies Friday Afternoon

Gettysburg college's new dormitory was dedicated as Elizabeth Painter and Henry W. A. Hanson hall at services held in the main lounge of the structure Friday afternoon.

Doctor Hanson, president of the college, dedicated the hall with the words, "I do now set apart Hanson hall of Gettysburg college as a dormitory for young ladies and dedicate it to the glory and honor of Almighty God, and to the service of Christian Womanhood; in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

A special guest at the service was Charles W. Myers, Chambersburg street, senior employee of the Western Maryland railroad and in whose name the Western Maryland several years ago donated $5,000 to the college here. A plaque honoring Mr. Myers will be placed in the main parlor of the dormitory.

AAUW President Speaks

Dr. Althea K. Hottel, president of the American Association of University Women and dean of women of the University of Pennsylvania, spoke on "The Role of the College Educated Woman Today" during the exercises.

"One of the greatest challenges in our world today is how to achieve unity in diversity. That pertains not only at the international and national level, but in each community and school. Another challenge is the realization that we can build a more positive world by using the different gifts of individuals, of men and women, and of different races and nationalities.

"The college educated woman today must play a significant and constructive role in American life. She is the well educated woman whose skills, whose judgment and experience and whose standards should make her a vital person as an individual, as a homemaker, as a citizen and as a worker.

"Women must now recognize that their spheres definitely include but extend beyond the home, their vocations, into the community, and that community is now the world.

Fulfillment of Dreams

Mrs. C. W. Baker, Jr., Duquesne, Pa., a member of the college board of trustees, outlined the history of education at Gettysburg college, beginning with Beulah Mildred Tip-ton, the first woman to enter the college as a freshman in the fall of 1888. At present time there are 175 female students in the school.

"This newly-erected women's dormitory now dedicated is the realization of a dream in the minds and hearts of many individuals over a long span of years,"

Furnishes Bail On 2 Charges By Wife

Clarence R. Hartlaub, Gettysburg R. 5, furnished bail totaling $1,000 before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Friday on two charges filed by his wife, Gladys, assault and battery and desertion and non-support.

Mrs. Hartlaub charged that her husband attacked and beat her on October 21 and has since left her. He was held for court on both charges, with bail fixed at $500 on each.

Widow Of Truman's Would-Be Assassin On Hunger Strike

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—The slim, defiant widow of President Truman's slain would-be assassin was on a hunger strike today in a Federal jail cell.

The woman, 21-year-old Carmen Dolores Torresola, was tracked down by secret service agents Thursday night. She was taken to the Federal House of Detention and a Federal official, who refused to be quoted, said she had been on a hunger strike since the arrest.

Mrs. Torresola, her dark eyes smoldering, during her arraignment yesterday, heard U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol say she "expressed herself in entire sympathy with the attempt on the President's life."

She was held in default of $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiring to injure the President.

Her husband, Griselio Torresola, was killed Wednesday in a torrent of gunfire as he and Oscar Collazo, 37, tried to storm Washington's Blair House and assassinate the President. Both men were fiery Puerto Rican Nationalists, dedicated to kill if necessary to gain the island's independence.

Collazo, wounded in the gun battle, is recovering at a Washington hospital.

Secret service agents caught up with Mrs. Torresola hours after she fled her Manhattan hotel room with her six-month-old daughter, Rebecca.

Mrs. Torresola is in the same jail where Mrs. Rosa Collazo, 42, wife of the wounded assassin, is being held on other conspiracy charges in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Both women are scheduled to receive a hearing next Thursday.

The maximum penalties for conviction on the conspiracy counts are six years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

Election Results On WGET Tuesday

Next Tuesday night — for the first time in history — everyone in Adams county will have the opportunity to learn county election results as rapidly as they are received at the commissioners' office in the court house.

Radio Station WGET will have a microphone in the commissioners' office where the county vote is compiled election night and the figures from each district will be read over the air as soon as they are received there from local election boards.

Beginning at 9 p.m. Tuesday, WGET will broadcast county election news from the court house and state and national voting results from their leased Associated Press wire at the studio.

CONDUCT WORLD COMMUNITY DAY SERVICE FRIDAY

"A basic necessity to make the World Community a reality is prayer, prayer for nations, races, churches and ourselves," Kenneth Senft, a student at the local Lutheran Theological seminary, declared Friday evening at the annual World Community Day service held in the chapel of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church here.

The program was sponsored by Gettysburg Council of Church Women.

Mr. Senft, who resumed his studies at the seminary here this year, spent three years in the American zone of Germany for the Lutheran World Federation assisting in the distribution of materials sent to Germany for relief purposes.

Only A Dream Now

World Community Day today "is only a hope and dream and it can become a reality only as soon as we make it so," he declared. "A great fellowship of faith" is needed to bring about a world community, he added. "The United Nations organization which for the past five years has been working for international peace will not secure its aim until the churches keep pace with the ideals of international understanding."

"Tremendous strides are being taken in that direction, particularly with the organization, in 1947 of the Lutheran World Federation and in 1948 of the World Council of Churches," he added.

He told of his work with refugees in Germany and of the great need they have "for even the most elementary of articles." Conditions in Germany are "becoming better," he

Allied Forces Tighten Lines Against Korean Reds, Chinese

Seoul, Nov. 4 (AP)—Allied forces forged a firm line today against Chinese and Korean Communist resistance — a line that stood unbroken in the face of renewed Red attacks.

A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said "the equipment of" at least two Chinese divisions are battling United Nations forces in northwest Korea.

On the Korean east coast, the U.S. Marines still were in trouble. But the victory that had seemed so simple last month had changed complexion. One high-ranking Eighth army officer said the Reds probably have 300,000 troops deployed along the Korean-Manchurian border.

Million Reds Ready

The spokesman said the Chinese Reds may have 1,000,000 or more troops within "committing distance," meaning they could strike from their present locations.

However, intelligence officers said there still was no determination about whether Red China had sent regular divisions into Korea.

As yet, they said, there is no "pattern of proof."

In the most crucial area, at Unsan and Kunu inland from the west coast, General MacArthur's headquarters said the entire withdrawal strategy is "almost complete."

The situation there appeared, on the basis of field dispatches, to be stabilized.

In northwest Korea, half of a trapped regiment of the U.S. First Cavalry division escaped to the new U.N. defense line from a trap sprung Thursday by the Korean Reds. The Reds were aided by Chinese Communist troops.

Marines Meet Trouble

On the northeast front, the American Marine Seventh Regiment ran into trouble on a drive northwest of Sudong, 20 miles north of the east coast industrial city of Hamhung. The Marines are driving toward the Changjin reservoir, one of two power dams serving both North Korea and southern Manchuria.

The weather continued bad for Allied air forces. Intermittent rains and low clouds hampered close fighter support. Observation planes were able to spot enemy forces moving southeasterly from the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria. But there was no indication that the movement was large scale.

Marine planes were supplying two battalions of U.S. Leathernecks cut off on their drive to the power dam in the northeast. The Marines were extended. One battalion was encircled just west of Wonsan, where the Marines landed last week. Other units were strung out more than 100 miles from the Sudong area to a point 30 miles south of Wonsan.

HUNTER WOUNDED

Charles D. Bretzman, 19, Bendersville, was treated at the Warner hospital for the removal of shotgun pellets from the calf of his right leg received while hunting on Wednesday.

TO OPEN SPECIAL SERIES AT AME ZION ON SUNDAY

The first in a series of special services in connection with the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of St. Paul's AME Zion church will be held Sunday evening at St. Paul's church with the Rev. Henry B. Reiley, Jr., delivering the sermon. The Methodist choir will furnish the music.

Similar services will be held until November 26 when the actual anniversary will be observed with a special program. Among the local ministers who will speak at the various planned pre-anniversary services will be the Rev. Clyde R. Brown, the Rev. Harold V. March, the Rev. Wallace E. Fisher and the Rev. Robert Knechel.

The Rev. J. O. Fountain, pastor of St. Paul's church, said today that a history of the church is in preparation for the anniversary November 26.

The main portion of the present church was built 75 years ago. In 1917 the steeple and present entrance were added. The Sunday school room was added and other changes were made in the church over the period of years.

At the morning worship hour Sunday the Rev. Mr. Fountain will have as his subject, "Christ, Our Mediator." Music will be furnished by the youth choir. Holy Communion will be distributed. Harriet A. Carter will lead the Varick Youth Fellowship at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening. The public is invited to all of the services.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Florence Dietrich presented a recital of traditional music, and Mrs. Walter Cavanaugh, the soloist, sang "Lord, Who at Cana's Wedding Feast" (J. Lewis Browne). During the mass Mrs. Cavanaugh sang "Panis Angelicus" (Cesar Franck). Following the talk by Mr. Senft, Mrs. Herbert H. Mrs. Florence Grider, Methodist church representative, reported that the Mrs. Tate's Sunday school class and the Women's Society of Christian Service sent six layettes at an earlier date as their contribution to World Community day. is the most practical thing that I have said all evening.

"God Re-makes Men"

"Such is God's program for undergirding our remarkable technological competence with His moral character. He has been re-making men and nations for centuries and He wants to do the same for us."

President Thomas served as master of ceremonies for the evening and the invocation was given by Dr. A. R. Wentz, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary.

In his talk following the turkey banquet, Mr. Thomas reminded the audience that Adams county has celebrated its 150th birthday anniversary this year and added: "There must be a feeling of pride in your hearts when you realize that your bank has served in this county for almost 94 years of that time and hopes to continue to serve capably in the future."

Observing that Friday night's attendance was the largest in the history of the event, the bank president presented a brief report on the current condition of the First National. He said that from January 1 to October 20 of this year 811 new loans were made totaling $1,243,545 and that in the same period $1,142,856 was paid to the bank on loans. In the same period, he said, there were personal, installment loans totaling $107,745 while $107,179 was paid off on loans in the same category during that period of time.

Pointing out that "money to a bank is its merchandise and it's the turnover that counts," Mr. Thomas said that on October 20 the percentage of loans to total deposits was 45 percent and explained the importance of liquidity in banking operations. As an indication of the bank's growth since January 1, Mr. Thomas said deposits are up 8.68 percent or about $200,000.

He described the reimposition of credit controls by the federal government as the most important incident in the field of banking so far this year.

Miller's 93-Yard Run Gives CHS 6-6 Tie With Hershey

Gettysburg and Hershey high schools fought to a 6-6 deadlock in a South Penn conference game played Friday night at Hershey before approximately 1,200 fans.

Bobby Miller, fleet Warrior back, turned in the longest run of the evening when he returned a kickoff in the first period 93 yards following a Hershey touchdown to knot the score.

The Warriors were forced to play defensive ball throughout much of the game, twice stopping the Trojans deep in scoring territory in the second half. Hershey secured 13 first downs to five for the locals.

Hershey took the opening kickoff and M. Houser returned the ball from the 7 to his 35 from where the Trojans staged an uninterrupted march for his tally.

After a series of plays carried the ball to the Gettysburg 45, Houser streaked 32 yards on a spinner-play to the 13. Basti the league's leading scorer, swept around right end to score from that point. The placement try for the point was short.

On the following kickoff Wayne Tonsil took the ball on the 7 and criss-crossed to Miller who raced down the side-lanes for 93 yards and the tying points.

Penalty Costly
Davis bottled the ball between the uprights on his first extra point try but the Warriors were set back five yards when it was discovered there were too many men on the field and his next try went wide.

Late in the opening period Dale Hoffman intercepted a pass and reached the Hershey 40 on a 9-yard return but the Trojans held and Williams punted out on the Hershey 7.

Early in the second period a pass, Basti to Hauck, was good for a first down on the Trojan 47. On a fake kick, Basti tossed a pass which was intercepted by "Scapy" Davis on the Gettysburg 37. Hershey held firm and Williams booted 45 yards to the Trojan 30. A short time later Hershey kicked to Hoffman who returned to his 33 as the half ended.

Tonsil returned the second half kickoff from his 29 to the 30 but Williams was soon forced to kick out of bounds on the Hershey 42. The Trojans then made a bid for a score. Houser passed to Wagner for 15 yards and Basti whipped another aerial to Houser on the 10 with the latter driving to the 5.

However, Hershey was set back 15 yards on a personal foul penalty and the Warriors eventually took over on the 20 on downs.

Warriors Intercept
Early in the fourth period Hershey advanced to the Gettysburg 20 where the Warriors again braced to take over. An exchange of punts followed with Gettysburg taking over on the Hershey 39. After a series of plays Hershey recovered a fumble by Gettysburg. Several plays later Bill Singley intercepted a pass by Basti on the Gettysburg 18. Another interception this time by Dave Swope, on Gettysburg's 20, halted Hershey's final threat. DeHaas ran to the Gettysburg 39 as the game ended.

Next Friday the Warriors will wind up their season by meeting Mechanicsburg on the Wildcats' field.

Less Observance Of Armistice Day

(By The Associated Press)
Intervening World War II has weakened the grip on Pennsylvania memories of World War One's armistice.

A statewide Associated Press survey of Armistice Day showed that in most places celebration of the event which made America dance in the commonwealth's cities, towns and hamlets merchants were reluctant to close up shop on the day farmers come to town.

Only Waynesboro, Clearfield, Coatesville, Punksatuney, Dubois, Reynoldsville and Brockville reported their towns planned all-day business closure. Other places in their areas may follow suit.

An adult alligator under observation at the St. Augustine, Florida, Alligator Farm was tested for jaw pressure. His bite had a pressure of nearly one thousand pounds, but he swallows food whole.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—One of the oddities of the new Dodge organization is that the Class AAA farms—Montreal and St. Paul—are bracketed with the big club's administration instead of with the other minor league teams. . . . What the effect of that will be is more than we can guess, but it probably will lead to a few more howls from the fans about recalling players on 24-hours notice. . . . Also, there are strong indications that the Brooklyn chain won't be as big as before. . . . One man in the organization pointed out that "the boss"—meaning Branch Rickey—continued several unprofitable connections because of sentiment. "There's no sentiment in these guys," he added. . . . While we're guessing, it isn't hard to guess that Burt Shotton can be counted on as next year's manager. Why else would Prexy Walter O'Malley emphasize that he'll talk with Shotton "because I think he's a very fine gentleman?"

DISCUSSED WITH INTEREST
At the same press conference where these details came out, someone asked O'Malley who would deal with a player who was asking for a $5,000 raise. . . . Walter grinned ruefully and replied: "The bank, I guess, it he wants that much."

SPORTSMENION
Don McEwen, Michigan's star distance runner, finds time for a good look at football practice every day after his three or four mile cross country stint while he's waiting for his teammates to catch up. . . . Pop McKeale, Arizona athletic director, issued an ultimatum to members of the athletic "A" club that they'd have to abandon the practice of kissing unwary co-eds on initiation day or do without him as faculty advisor. Surprisingly, it worked. We didn't think Pop was that party. . . . The South Chicago aerie of the Order of Eagles is running a postcard campaign to have the 1912 Olympic trophies restored to member Jim Thorpe. . . . Former Light Heavyweight Champ Gus Lesnevich and ex-wrestler Murray Rothenberg are partners in the used car business in Little Ferry, N. J. . . . Their slogan: "Don't worry, see Murray; don't fuss, see Gus."

STOPPED HIS CLOCK
Whenont Florida's footballers were handing a 31-27 lead over Vanderbilt, sophomore quarterback Haywood Sullivan decided to run quarterback sneaks to use up time. . . . twice a big tackle, Vandy Captain Russ Faulkinberg, slammed him down. . . . The third time it happened, Russ exclaimed: "Sullivan, I ought to kill you." . . . Sullivan grinned, looked calmly at the clock, which showed four seconds to go, and replied: "Sorry, you haven't time."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Via the football scouting underground comes word that Dick Harlow, who has been scouting for Army, claims the Cadets will cash in on a Penn weakness not yet noted by other rivals. . . . Harry Levy, New York boxing manager, is heading for Jacksonville, Fla., to operate a gym. . . . Southern Methodist's Rusty Russell is the "champion sportsman" for October. No doubt he deserves the plug. . . . Harold Roettger, late of the Dodgers organization, is to lecture on baseball administration at Florida Southern college. Wonder if he'll give lessons in Rickey doubletalk, too?

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4 (AP)—World heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles may bolt the International Boxing club, the nation's top ring promotion outfit.

Jake Mintz, the Cincinnati negro's co-manager, has been feuding with IBC matchmaker Al Weil. Their differences came to a head last night in a squabble over a preliminary card on which Mintz was trying to place another boxer.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—The body of an apprentice seaman from Tower City, Pa. who drowned at the Philadelphia Naval base Oct. 25, has been recovered. Police announced Friday the body of Roy R. Baker, 19, was found in the vicinity of Pier Five, where he lost his footing while transferring from a launch to a heavy cruiser.

A 60-yard punt return by Boyd set the stage for Strayer to streak around end for the third score of the period.

In the second period Dallastown scored when Strayer intercepted a pass and raced 30 yards.

Four more Dallastown scores came in the third period. McKinsey ran 76 yards on the kickoff for the first score. ## DELONE DOWNS H-BURG RIVALS BY 21-7 SCORE

A pair of touchdowns in the last period gave the Delone Catholic high gridders a hard-earned 21-7 victory over Harrisburg Catholic Friday evening at McSherrystown.

In the opening period the Squires took the ball on their own 44 when Brenner blocked a Crusader punt with Miller recovering. After three plays Shaeffer streaked 38 yards for a score and Nicholson booted the extra point.

Harrisburg drove 80 yards for a score in the third quarter, featured by a 40-yard scamper by Aeri to put the ball on the Delone 8. Kuzma whipped a pass to Kostelac in the end zone for the score and Kuzma booted the placement to deadlock the score.

After Rider recovered a Crusader fumble on the Harrisburg 47, Delone drove to its second score in the final period. Timmins and Shaeffer featured the drive with Shaeffer finally plunging over from the 1. Again Nicholson converted.

Another Crusader fumble was recovered on the Delone 33 by Miller to pave the way for the final Squire touchdown. The drive culminated in Shaeffer's third TD, a 32-yard jump.

Delone will play its final home game by meeting Reading Catholic at McSherrystown on Sunday, November 12.

EAGLES RISK DIVISION LEAD

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Only one thing is sure about tomorrow's pro football schedule. The idle New York Yankees still will lead the National division.

The Philadelphia Eagles risk their American division lead by playing Pittsburgh at Shibe Park while second-place Cleveland meets the Chicago Cardinals at Chicago.

An Eagle loss and a Cleveland triumph would boost the Browns into first place. If both should lose, the New York Giants could tie for the lead by whacking Washington at the Polo Grounds.

Top game in the National division is the San Francisco-at-Los Angeles game. The Los Angeles Rams, rolling up 65 or 70 points a game, are on a three-game win streak. A win would boost them within a half game of the Yankees who have an open date after their fine win over the Chicago Bears. Los Angeles downed San Francisco 35-14, in their first meeting.

The Chicago Bears, derailed by the Yanks, go to Detroit, for their first of two meetings. The Lions have been scoring four touchdowns a game but lost four of their last five.

Baltimore's winless Colts, six-time losers, are 14-point underdogs against the invading Green Bay Packers.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LIVE TRIUMPHANTLY

If you study history you have learned that this world has gone through many a dark age, and through many a day of debt and doubt. So serious were the days that followed the decision of the American Colonists to declare their independence from Great Britain that Thomas Paine spoke of those days as ones that "tried men's souls."

Men's souls have been tried since those days in the War between the States, and through the more recent two World Wars—and today the souls of the peoples of the earth are again being tried, to see if the faith they have in a democratic ideal for the free nations of the earth shall live or be by-passed.

Were it not for the fact that there have always been leaders, and men who seemed to live triumphantly, we would never have known the good days that have outrun the bad ones. A sentence from the philosophy of the great Louis Pasteur comes to me. He said: "And, no matter what your career may be, do not let yourself become tainted by a deprecating and barren skepticism, do not let yourselves be discouraged by the sadness of certain hours which pass over nations."

Pasteur lived triumphantly. He had faith. He believed in God. He gave of himself to the world, and lived through the scoffs of his time without fear. He was the founder of the science of bacteriology, through which millions of lives have been saved. And Pasteur is but one example out of thousands who have enriched human characters upon this earth.

Live triumphantly. Each day—each hour. Read those lines from Pasteur again. Each one of us is inspired to live the triumphant life because of the examples of others who have so lived. Such examples of faith and courage teach us to keep our chin up, to look forward, and to banish fear from our life. Live triumphantly each day and you will know happiness.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
WHAT SUCCESS IS

If I were questioned to say what success is,

I'd answer: "It's playthings and little girls' dresses.

It's meat on the table; an auto to ride in;

A home gay with laughter and love to abide in."

Success isn't luxury's treasurers exquisite,

For some may have these and through bitterness miss it.

It's fun in the evening; it's little boys' chatter.

With gladness at home, all the rest doesn't matter.

Success is a garden, though small,

Gay with posies;

A few friends to call now and then when day closes.

A son, who for college, some day will be heading.

In time for the daughter—"a beautiful wedding."

It isn't in fortune or fame, I am certain.

For these for the spirit are merely a curtain.

It's faith for the heartaches and strength for distresses.

The family united and proud. This success is.

INDIAN ANGER AT INVASION OF TIBET MOUNTS

(By The Associated Press)

Indian anger at Communist China's invasion of Tibet mounted today, while Moscow boasted that the Red attack on the ancient, rugged land was developing successfully.

The Indian government—a champion of Communist China's admission to the United Nations—published texts of notes to Peiping accusing the Reds of greatly increasing the "drift towards general war."

At the same time India's Socialist party leader urged that the United Nations at once take over Tibetan affairs and conduct a plebiscite there to determine the future of the priest-ruled country often referred to as "the roof of the world."

India's representative at Lhasa, capital of Tibet, has advised the New Delhi government that Tibetan forces have fallen back to Pempa Go, 200 miles east of the capital. A Chinese broadcast said Red troops were "heroically overcoming all geographical difficulties" on the march to the heart of Tibet, but did not give the invaders' position. Peiping—and Moscow, too—claimed the troops were being welcomed everywhere by the Tibetan people.

Moscow's Communist party newspaper, Pravda, published a dispatch telling of the capture of Chamdo, a center on the main caravan route 370 air miles east of Lhasa. It said two British and two Indian officers were among the Chamdo garrison when it was taken prisoner.

Pravda's correspondent, I. Vyokov, said the Ninth regiment of Tibet's small army went over in a body to the Chinese and "joined in the struggle for the liberation of Tibet." But it also told of battles being waged high in the mountains.

Garrison Crushed
Chamdo's garrison tried to flee but was surrounded and crushed, Pravda said. This garrison previously was described as including 3,000 of Tibet's best troops.

A similar article appeared in the press of the Soviet zone in Germany. This one said Chinese commanders were investigating the role played by the captured British and Indian officers.

India's latest note to Peiping, dated October 31, accused the Chinese Reds of attempting to impose a decision by military force against a peaceful people and without provocation.

India said that in view of the developments, its government no longer would advise the Tibetan delegation now in India to proceed to Peiping to negotiate with the Chinese, "unless the Chinese government thinks it fit to order its troops to halt their advance into Tibet and thus give a chance for peaceful negotiations."

Special Atomic Weapons Rushed

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The United States appears to be hastening toward production of specialized atomic weapons and special tactics for use if the Russians should attempt to invade Western Europe.

Without making it clear whether such weapons and tactics already exist in preliminary form, the air force said in a semi-annual departmental report released Thursday that it is "taking necessary action to develop further its capability to support the ground forces with atomic weapons."

And the army, in its report, said that new systems for guided missiles, recoilless weapons "and the family of atomic weapons are designed or being designed for use by our army."

The atomic weapons family obviously includes, besides the explosive bombs themselves, such things as radiological equipment for poisoning areas.

Fighting Retreat Made By French

Saigon, Indo-China, Nov. 4 (AP)—

The French have retreated from Laosay, their last fortress on their northwest frontier with Red China, a spokesman announced Friday.

The garrison of about 1,200 Senegalese and Algerians from Africa and Indo-China Colonial forces began pulling out Wednesday and completed evacuation of the important outpost on the Red river, 150 airline miles northwest of Hanoi, on Thursday.

The troops were said to be making a fighting retreat toward the west into mountainous country occupied by Thai tribesmen. Ho Chi Minh's Moscow-backed Vietminh rebels were harassing the rearguard, but the withdrawal was reported to be progressing successfully.

Mists of the rainy season, however, blocked the French air force from furnishing the planned air cover for the retreat. A steady parade of warplanes roared off from Hanoi air base Wednesday but fog grounded all planes by Thursday.

TRANSPLANTED KIDNEY OKAY

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—A dead woman's kidney transplanted into a once-doomed woman's body June 17 is functioning, the surgeons who performed the unprecedented operation reported today.

Their tests indicated, however, that its activity is below par. And they added that conclusions "are necessarily withheld until there is more evidence of the permanency of the graft."

The operation that may bring medical science to a new frontier—the successful transplanting of whole human organs—was described in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The "human guinea pig," Mrs. Howard Tucker, 44, reported today she feels "fine" and is able to carry on her usual household activities. Ten weeks after the operation she was able to take a 300-mile automobile trip to attend a convention. For a week she participated freely in banquets, dancing and other convention activities.

"I hope the operation will mean something to the medical profession and to other sufferers elsewhere," she said in an interview.

The doctors said other investigators in this work have reported there is no fundamental

Cleveland, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Fisher Bros. Co., a large chain store grocery company, said Friday coffee had been reduced between two and four cents a pound. The price of the firm's cheapest coffee dropped from 67 cents to 63 cents. The price in the medium range dropped three cents to 65 cents. The highest priced brand went down two cents to 67 cents.

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—Only two areas in the nation still have more than 12 per cent of their workers idle, the Office of Defense Manpower reports. The two areas mentioned in the ODM announcement yesterday are Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

The government agency said growing defense spending and production of civilian goods have taken up most of the manpower slack in the nation's 165 major cities.

Thanks to a Thief

Why, anyone with designs on a car without the formality of buying it should steal it from a private driveway right under the owner's nose is indeed a mystery. But this does happen. In a recent case, the car was latched up, yet the thief managed to push the car out of the level driveway and down an incline to a quiet spot where a window was forced open. Fortunately the delay shutting the ignition switch gave the owner sufficient time to send out an SOS and catch the thief. Apparently some thieves do things the hard way.

This item would have no place in the column were it not for the lesson it teaches. It's a plain tip to use to set the hand brake even though the car is one level ground when parked. Do this, too, if the car is equipped with one of the new automatic transmissions. It's just further protection against having the car move under its own power, without benefit of driver, should the motor be left running and creeping develop. Not a few drivers of new cars fail to turn off their very quiet running motors when stopping.

Pointer on Automatics

If you are a newcomer at the wheel of a car with an automatic transmission, remember that your car will gain more rapidly in traffic than one equipped with a manual shift, provided the drivers are of equal skill. Your car will be skipping over the usual pause when it picks up through its speeds whereas the car ahead may go into quite a lapse between first and second or between second and third. Be prepared for this, otherwise you'll find yourself crowding the car ahead dangerously.

Picked Up Enroute

Incorrect assembly of parts is the cause of considerable trouble with repairs these days, the smart mechanic taking a good look at new units before installing them. . . . Clothes hangers of all kinds and descriptions are coming on the market, one of the cleverest being a telescoping type which makes it possible to open either of the rear doors with the garments moving with the door to obviate the need for reaching into the car. . . . Each wheel of your car turns about 700 times per mile. . . . Brake lining backed with wire is not suitable for use when bonded to the brake shoes in the new rivet-less fashion.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"Even though it's profitable to do a brake job when a customer complains of noisy brake operation or failure to get a good sure stop my conscience tells me that I should always consider the possibility that the brakes may need merely an adjustment. In a recent case I found that the noise disappeared when the brakes were used more vigorously. They actually needed rough treatment."

"Often noise is caused by loose wheel bearings. A loose brake backing plate will also cause trouble. Then there is the situation with the drums themselves. Sluggish brake action in the case of hydraulics may seem like loose brake lining or too much side play in the brake shoe guides, but it may be the result of a sticking wheel cylinder."

Check on That Choke

It's just as easy to tell if the automatic choke is working overtime as to tell if it is loafing on the job, but few drivers realize it. An excellent clue is the fact that when over-choke an engine will buck and gallop. The car will run roughly and there will be every evidence of loading up. This will be accompanied by black smoke from the exhaust if the overchoke continues too long. On many cars there is an extension of the choke valve shaft or a short lever attached to it. This provides a means of opening the choke valve manually if things do not work normally.

A torque wrench is a tool for use in tightening nuts and cap-screws accurately. But how many know just what is meant by drawing a nut down a certain number of pounds feet?

Let's take a typical cylinder head. Here a torque wrench is needed to prevent over-tightening and to help get an even setting all around. If the wrench is two feet long and you pull with 30 pounds force on the end the wrench will produce 60 lb.-ft. of torque.

The exact pull is indicated on the dial on the wrench. When a car rides well in wet weather, but seems like a truck when the roads are dry, the chances are that the tires are overinflated. Here's how it figures out:

Water on the roads keeps tires cool. Thus a tire that is inflated up to 28 pounds will stay just about there in the rain, but might run up to 32 or thereabouts on a dry day when there is more tire-road friction and more heat on the road itself.

Rain also has a lubricating effect on the rear springs if they are of leaf variety. This possibility also should be looked into.

Proof of the Pudding

It's easy enough to prove the value of one kind of wax or car finish preservative over another. Just do certain parts of the car with one, and some with another, and remember which is which. You must have the finish very clean and brightly polished before applying any preservative, so you lose nothing but the possible need of applying a little more of it should one of those you try fail to do a good job. That is, you do not need to re-polish the car's surface if one of the waxes fails to stand up. Just re-wax. This comparison will also show up such points as tendency to spot. In making tests, of course, make sure to consider the kinds of surfaces compared. Doors are subjected to less damage from the elements. Top, deck and hood are about the best for comparisons.

Watch That Cleaner

Air cleaners are living up to their reputation for giving trouble if not carefully installed. Always there has been the risk of a careless mechanic or owner over-tightening the wing nut that holds the cleaner unit to the carburetor air intake. Such cramping may limit the action of the choke. But now on the new cars the cleaner's positioning itself is important. In one case a slight deviation will affect the choke lever. Another point to consider is avoidance of over-tightening the cleaner cover. Ignoring this rule affects the air-fuel ratio.

Having Their Troubles

Q. In spite of careful adjustments, re-lining and service on the drums themselves the brakes of my car continue to squeal, even in dry weather. Is there any way to stop this? H. L. M.

A. You might stretch coil springs around the drums. This is an old trick that is coming back into popularity again.

Q. Should oil level be checked when the engine is hot or cold? J. D. G.

A. A good question. We are warned not to overfill the crank case as this might cause foaming of the oil. But if the oil is kept up to the full mark when the engine is hot there is oil in the lines and thus more oil in the motor. A larger quantity of oil is an aid to oil quality since there is less tendency for the oil to break down and thin out with heat.

Q. Is the horsepower increase of the average current engine due to increase in compression ratio alone? H. N.

A. No. In some cases the cubic inch displacement has been increased. Better valving, carburetion, cooling and ignition are other factors in this picture of power increase.

Q. The overhead camshaft of the engine of my car is operated by a tower gear. How is this adjusted? Wm. J.

A. No adjustment is provided.

Q. If roughness of the motor during idling is due to valve stickage how soon after putting in an oil additive should the situation improve? R. F. E.

A. If the stuff is really good the improvement should be almost immediate.

Q. How can you tell if new rings alone will improve the engine's tendency to consume too much oil? K. K. B.

A. Before delving into the motor other things should be considered, such as possibility of excessive oil pressure, leakage, use of the wrong grade of oil, wear on the rear main motor bearing or overheating. Then when the head is removed the cylinder bores should be measured for taper and out-of-round wear. This will answer the question as to whether rings alone will do the trick or whether the motor will need reboring and oversize pistons.

Q. Have had all kinds of trouble keeping the battery charged. New regulators and rebuilding the generator hasn't helped. N. N. B. . . .

A. How about the generator drive belt. It may slip even though it seems to be tight enough.

HELD IN $80,000 FRAUD CHARGES

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP) — Sidney W. Tuttle, 66, a prominent former Reading, Pa., brokerage executive, is held in $80,000 bail today on Federal charges he misappropriated at least $80,000 invested by customers in a non-existent syndicate.

Tuttle was arrested at his Pennsylvania home near Reading Thursday. The U. S. marshal said he was discharged last week as a vice president and director of Hiscov Transport & Company, Inc. The firm has offices in Reading, Philadelphia and New York.

Brought here for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr on a charge of fraud in violation of the Federal Securities act, Tuttle was held for a further hearing at which two alleged victims will be witnesses.

Assistant U. S. Attorney N. Warren Benedetto identified the two as a Miss Hoffman of New York, who received $300 in dividends from Tuttle while losing $15,000 to $20,000 of her principal, and Lamont Dekalb of Pottstown, Pa., who lost $14,000. Benedetto and other Federal spokesmen gave this background on Tuttle's arrest: He collected money from customers for investment in a financial syndicate which did not exist. He hid the dealings from his firm. He invited his customers to deposit cash and securities in the trading pool, arguing the mass buying power would enable the individuals to gain commensurate profits. But he never formed the pool.

CHINESE REDS' New Oxford INTERVENTION IN KOREA NEARING

Hong Kong, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Chinese Communists have opened the floodgates of propaganda and the ensuing roar sounds as if they intend full-scale intervention in Korea.

Already the growing evidence that the Chinese have entered the Korean war to a limited extent is causing uneasiness in non-Communist areas of this part of Asia.

The feeling in this British crown colony on the edge of Red China is that the world is only a narrow step away from a third great war.

And such a war would bring the heavy force of Communist arms to bear against such small, non-Communist holdout areas as this.

Two Explanations
The prevailing opinion here still is that the Chinese Communists have only a limited objective in mind in Korea.

Most observers believe the Chinese Reds are worried about the Yalu river power grid. This supplies electricity to much of Manchuria's industries.

Another explanation is that the Chinese Communists simply want to establish a buffer zone between Manchuria and Korea. Manchuria is the main industrial area in which the Chinese Communists say they intend to build a modern China. They always have been hypersensitive about Manchuria.

On the other hand, the new outbreak of propaganda with its overtones of intervention sounds ominous.

Eager To Help
The Peiping radio says it has received "thousands of letters" from writers "anxious to join their Korean neighbors in annihilating the aggressive American hordes" in Korea.

Some Communist newspapers devoted more than half their front pages to such expressions purportedly coming from the people.

They carry such language as this: "The war in Korea has ceased to be a Korean problem, for American imperialism in reality has stepped into the shoes of Japanese imperialism. We cannot reason with a man-eating tiger. We have every reason to unite against the aggressors."

Observers recognize this as a Communist effort to condition their people for war. And they believe it sounds more like full-scale rather than limited intervention.

The National Geographic Society says Japan is probably the world's worst earthquake risk.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Smith, Harrisburg, visited recently at the Kuhn Convalescent Home east of town where Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Mae A. Kuhn, near Hanover, has been a guest for some months.

Work has been completed on the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes at the Catholic cemetery east of town, built by volunteer labor since late spring by men of the Catholic parish. The stone edifice, which is lighted at night, stands 18 feet in height. Much of the stone in building was donated by friends both Catholic and non-Catholic from here and away. In the niche at the top is a white statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and just outside the cave at the base of the grotto is a kneeling statue of the same material, representing Bernadette Soubirous, now St. Bernadette.

Local Girl Scouts marked the beginning of Girl Scout Week on Sunday by special church services, both Catholic and Protestant. Girls belonging to the Catholic church attended the early mass and received Holy Communion in a body, wearing their uniforms. Protestant Girl Scouts, also uniformed, attended together the morning worship service at St. Paul's Reformed church.

Another feature of Girl Scout Week here has been the arrangement in a window of the B & S Department store of an exhibit of handwork in sewing, art, basketry, "wood-burning" and other handicrafts, each piece marked with the producer's name.

Dr. Karl S. Hoffmeister, who had been quite ill at his home, is now able to be about and to attend to the duties of his local office.

Orrtanna

Orrtanna—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richardson, Orrtanna R. D., and Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson and family, Gettysburg, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Small, Baltimore.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. De Percio returned to Pittsburgh after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and family. Mrs. Smith is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Cox and a sister of Mrs. De Percio.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saum, Chambersburg R. D., visited over the weekend with the former's brother and sisters, Howard Saum, and the Misses Lita and Bertha Saum.

Pvt. Edward J. Gilbert returned to Ft. Meade, Md., after a two-week leave spent with Leroy Cassatt. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cogley and son, Rickie, visited recently with relatives in Lancaster.

INDEPENDENCE CAN'T COME BY ASSASSINATION

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—How screwy can it get?

Two Puerto Ricans, who want their country independent of the United States, try to shoot their way in to kill President Truman. Such an assassination might have focused attention on Puerto Rico. It could not have won independence for it. In fact, it might have prevented independence for Puerto Rico. An angered United States might have resolved to hold more firmly to possession of the island.

But—it's not the President, it's the majority of Puerto Rican voters who only recently showed they don't want their country independent—yet. In fact, five years ago President Truman urged Congress to pass legislation letting the Puerto Ricans be independent if they wished.

Given More Rights
Since then two Congresses—one Republican, one Democratic—have passed laws letting Puerto Rico be more independent than ever before. Again, when he was in Puerto Rico in 1948, Mr. Truman told the islanders they had the right to choose their own relationship to the U.S. And in that same year, in their most recent election, a good majority—62 per cent—of the Puerto Ricans voters elected a party which campaigned against independence for the island.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt favored independence for the people there, if they wanted it. And in 1947 Mr. Truman recommended to Congress that it take steps to find out whether the Puerto Ricans wanted: (1) Complete independence; (2) The election of their own governor, with a wider measure of local government; (3) Statehood; and (4) A dominion form of government.

Congress didn't take the steps to let the people of Puerto Rico choose independence for themselves. But in 1948 the Republican Congress changed the law to let the Puerto Ricans choose their own governor. (Until this law of 1948 the President, under the old law, appointed the governor, commissioner of education, attorney general, auditor, and justices of the supreme court.)

Under the 1948 law the President now appoints only the auditor and the justices of the supreme court. Puerto Rico has its own legislature: A senate and house, although the island still is under U.S. control.

When the Puerto Ricans voted in 1948 to elect their own governor there were three Puerto Rican parties in the contest: One campaigned on a full independence ticket; the second wanted statehood; and the third wanted the island to stay as it was—a U.S. possession—for some time.

This third party—headed by Munoz Marin, longtime political boss of the island—won. Marin was elected governor. This is the stand Marin took and on which he was elected to a four-year term over his rivals: "Stupid insistence on establishing on a piece of paper at once and in a crazy manner the word independence or the word statehood would be a disaster."

Puerto Ricans are U.S. citizens. The U.S., through various agencies, regularly pours millions of dollars into Puerto Rico, whose principle crop is sugar.

This year the Democratic Congress took a couple more steps for the Puerto Ricans: It said they could set up their own constitution—which they are in the process of doing—and it admitted them to the benefits of the social security law.

Puerto Ricans are U.S. citizens. The U.S., through various agencies, regularly pours millions of dollars into Puerto Rico, whose principle crop is sugar.

This year the Democratic Congress took a couple more steps for the Puerto Ricans: It said they could set up their own constitution—which they are in the process of doing—and it admitted them to the benefits of the social security law.

LEGISLATURE CONTROL IS AT STAKE TUESDAY

Harrisburg, Nov. 4 (AP)—Control of the state legislature will be at stake when Pennsylvania's voters go to the polls next Tuesday.

An overwhelming victory by either the Democrats or Republicans would carry with it a majority of the seats in both the House and Senate.

Voters must choose 208 House members, 25 Senators for a full four-year term and another Senator to fill out a two-year term.

The GOP now holds a 117 to 91 majority in the House. Speaker Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk) says the GOP should be able to retain that margin.

But Rep. H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria), House Democratic leader, is counting on picking up enough seats in Philadelphia and Allegheny county to come up with a Democratic majority for the first time since 1941.

Republicans hold an edge in the fight for control of the Senate because they have 14 holdovers. Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) says his party should be able to keep or exceed its present 35 to 15 majority because 19 of the 26 Senators up for election November 7 are Republican incumbents. Most of them, he cited, come from heavy GOP districts.

Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) admits the Democrats will have an uphill battle to acquire a majority in the 99-seat Senate. But he claims that a topheavy Democratic statewide triumph could prove enough to upset the GOP edge.

25 Senators Up
Twenty-five Senators from the even-numbered districts are up for election next Tuesday. In addition, Lancaster county voters will pick Harris will be formally inducted into office at the Encino All Star show on December 1, a benefit for the Encino Community Youth building. Jolson was in his second term as unofficial "mayor" of the Los Angeles suburb when he died.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Federal grand jury investigating gambling in the Metropolitan Philadelphia area since September 14 has handed up two indictments—but who was indicted will not be revealed until after they have been arrested.

Levi C. Hershey, of Elizabethtown, Pa., foreman of the jury, presented the indictments yesterday to U. S. District Judge J. Cullen Ganey. Ganey impounded them at the request of Max H. Goldsheim, special deputy attorney general directing the probe.

In only one of its 11 games in 1949 did the College of the Pacific football team score less than five touchdowns.
